

Permaculture Design Certificate Course

Lost Cat Farm Kerhonkson, New York

Permaculture is a tool for holistic design for a regenerative future. We offer our students an experience in learning together and connecting to our earth and ecosystems. This course is for professional designers who want to go beyond green, young people who want a way to design hope, farmers who want to build soil every year, and concerned citizens who want to know solutions to the ecological problems we are facing as a world.

Topics Include:

- Climate Change
- Sustainable Agriculture
- Natural Building
- Forest Gardening
- Renewable Energy
- Agroforestry
- Alternative Waste Systems
- Community Living
- Regenerative Livelihoods
- Holistic Design Process
- Water Harvesting and Management

Dates:

- Jan 18,19,20 (3 days)
- Feb 15,16,17 (3 days)
- Mar 15,16 (2 days)
- Apr 5,6 (2 days)
- May 3,4 (2 days)

Cost: Sliding Scale $800-$1,200

This cost covers tuition for the 5 weekends, the use of Lost Cat Farm, breakfasts, and allows us to bring in the premier permaculture teachers and designers in the North East to you. Offering a sliding scale allows us to cover the running expenses and make it affordable to people with less income. Any amount paid over the minimum (tax deductible), makes it possible for people with less income to participate. We strive to make scholarships available so please inquire if necessary.

Lead Teacher: Tama Jackson
Guest Teachers Include: Dave Jacke, Andrew Faust, Mark Krawczyk, Kay McGrenaghan Cafasso and Ethan Roland

For registration: Joan and Wilton 845.626.2161 or mamajoane@yahoo.com

For more information: Tama Jackson newearthpermaculture@gmail.com

Hosted by Joan and Wilton at Lost Cat Farm 161 Cherrytown Rd. Kerhonkson, NY

Food and Accommodations: Breakfasts are provided. Other meals are organized potluck, to help reduce expenses and enjoy great feasts. We consider special food needs. Accommodations are separate and will cost approximately $310 total in local venues.

This course is made possible through generous donations from people like you who care about our earth and her people.

Special thanks to:

